A TRIP UP THE MISSISSIPPI.

CAIRO, ILL., March 14, 1865. Those who remember in the years that have assed how delightful was a trip on the Missisipi, can hardly realize the sad change in the resent. Years of war, of fratricidal war, have one their work well; and the cities in embryo h their thriving commerce and pretty villages at once detted the banks of the great river, are now in rules, their once happy peoples dead or in the army (which is but another name for death), and desolation utter and profound reigns over nearly all of the great Valley. There is not an exception below Cairo to the Gulf—all have shared a common fate. A word about New Orleans and then to my trip: Your commercial patrons, once familiar with the city, could not recognize it as the same. Its streets could not recognize it as the same. Its streets are no longer alive with a business population—their occupation is gone. Its post, which in tormer years was white with the sails of a hundred vessels from foreign ports, together with scores of steamboats daily arriving and depart-log, dis-laws a melancholy contrast Briefly, business is dead, and the former wealthy class re in the Confederacy, or those who remain are nreduced circumstances, exclusive, and are arely seen. New Orleans is a conquered city, and is people a subjugated people; and I was old by officers of the army that the people were nly quiet under the bayonet—there is no loval ty there.

Passing from this to the noble steamer Indians, commanded by Captain J. Stat Neal, a capital fellow, with those no less clever gentlemen, Captains W. W. Collins and R. P. Lodge, clerks, I find her to be one of the finest of the new class of steamers recently constructed for this trade. Of large size and tonnage, and suof the boat are in all respects complete, and what, with a table equal to your best hotel, polite attentions and musle and dancing each ight, and a crowd of ladies, this trip has been at pleasant. But to resume.

We start from New Orleans with the old flag anning in the breeze; the negroes chant the tremen's song, all rich in melody, and the proud steamer takes her northward flight. Here and there we takes a frigate gunboat, or other and there we lease a frigate, gunboat, or other need of war, with their guns bearing frownigly on the city, until we reach the picket wat, where we are stopped for a fitvolous reach, but secon pass onward. A storm threatens— The plantations ander the "Freed" system

VICE-PRESIDENT JOHNSON TO APOLOGIZE OR RESION —And now, on a ning the Vice-President and the hamiliating spectacle which on that day he furnished to the world, shall we speck or keep silent? Perhaps there exists some good reason why the sad truth should be suppressed, but no such reason have we yet had not three neighbors, the Tichune, the Times, and the Evening Post, in pardoning with silence the great disgrace which Andrew Johnson indicted that day upon his country. Had the tathe great disgrace which Andrew Johnson In-licted that day upon his country. Had the ta-bles been turned, and a similar offence been compitted by George II. Pendieton, we can hardly believe that these journals would have had their fingers on their lips in a hash of crit-ic m. As fr ourselves, we trust we are habitually slow to speak ill of public men, even of such as deserve dispraise; and certainly, arrows the many impraise; which have aforeof such as deserve dispraise; and certainly, among the many journals which have afore-time less hearty in their kind words o. Andrew Johnson, none have been heartfer than this sheet; but if such an appearance as he presented during his inauguration is to pass without public rebuke, in these and in other newspaper columns, then there no longer remains to the press any duty of impartial criticism of men in official stations. Once or twice we have fait it our duty to steak against the excessive It may be asked, What is the du lain. We fold that I have be is not amenable to in a private company he is not amenable to comment in the newspapers; but if he be drunken while acting his part on a public occasion, his offence is against the public, and should never be shielded from the just punishment of public censure. In the Senate chamber, on the 4th of March, in presence of the Senate, of the House, of the Cabinet, of the Supreme Court, of the diplomatic corps, of the newspaper press, of a gallery of ladies, and (during part of the time) of the President of the United States—and on an occasion to be the United States—and on an occasion to be forever historic—the Vice-President elect presented himself to take his solemn oath of office in a state of inuxication. Not in anger but in acrrow do we chronicle this fact, which we have no just right to account the product of the product of the chronic state. serrow do we chronicle this fact, which we have no just right to suppress. A few weeks ago the Speaker of the House of Representative was commanded by vote of that body to administer a public reprimend to a member who had committed a similar offence with less conspicuous shame. If a member of Congress is to be punished for such an act, shall the President of the Senate remain unpunished? Of course the Senate will choose its own method of reaching the case; a metod which we trust, will be kird, moderate, and just. But, meanwhile, it is the plain duty of Mr. Johnson either to apologize for his conduct or to reign his effice. In the name of an iosuited people, we are compelled to demand that so that an afront to the dignity of the republishall be made to bear a fit pensity, stonement, and warring.

FROM THE SOUTH. WIGFALL, "A CUESE TO HIS COUNTRY."

WIGFALL "A CUESE TO HIS COUNTRY."
[From the Richmond Sentinci, March 9.]

Senator Wigfali, who has been pursuing a very extraordinary and very reprehensible course during the whole of the present session of Congress, seemed inspired, in his speech of Tnesday uight, by a desire to surpass all his previous offences against the public interests. Ills speech was violent, unpatriotic, and censurable in the highest degree, devoted to the advocacy of extreme fancies, and to the abuse of those who stand infinitely higher than he in the public confidence. He denonneed the Virginia Legislature as "a one-horse concern," (where were our Senators that they had no word of rebuke?) denounced the press, poured out of rebuke?) denounced the press, poured out his bitterness upon the President, and demand-ed that he and the Vice-President should re-

There is, perhaps, not a patriot in the land There is, perhaps, not a patriot in the land who will not think that Mr. Wigfall should himself take the advice he gives, and resign his seat in the Senate. Had he done so at the beginning of the session, a great deal of time would have been saved to that body, which has been far worse than wasted. One of the last speeches which the writer heard in the old United States Senate was from Mr. Wigfall, in which he defied the North, and almost invited them to the battle. Little did we then expect, when the war should indeed come, to see him inreue the course which has made his further service during the session now about to close rvice during the session now about to close nevil and a curse to his country. Would that would take pattern from that patriotle body of men who represent the sentiment and the manliness of Virginia, but whom be thinks it showable to refer to with words of insult. Would that he would support, as he ought to lo, the efforts of that eminent patriot, and pure and faithful public officer, whom the people, with a manimous choice, called to the chief magistracy.

We trust that the people and Legislature o Texas are not unobservant of the freaks of their Senator; and, if he neither resigns nor mends his ways, they will, in justice to themselves, to the common cause, and to the sister States, re-lieve him at the earliest moment of the trust

Neither the solemulty of the occasion, nor the in a inency of the danger, controls his erration of and, without judgment or prudeuce, he "runs a muck" against sovereign Saues with all the fluency of a common scold and much of old the fluency of a common scold and much of the vulgarity of a lish-woman. Neither the ex-dited position of the Problem nor the depressed condition of the public heart restrains the ex-ressions of his hatred nor courted the impru-dence of his lantuage. His speech upon the negro bill in the Senate on Tuesday uight ex-couplified his passion, if it did not illustrate his patriotism. The Legislature of Virginia, the President of the Confederate States, and the edi-tor of this paper, were singly and together the thome of his oration. He denounced them all in the same language, and, without varying his tte," the deduced of this paper as a "one-horse tor." The Legislature of Virginia was "a y, stupid, bluudering, ignorant, uninformed" gislature, and the editor of this paper was implimented with the same epithels, unvaried in lu their arrangement. Mr. Ritchie, he d was an editor who conselled with Lefer. until that judgment is pronounced, we prefer even the error of our ways to the erratic coun-el of the Senator from Texas. We have yet to learn when and where the illustrions counsellors and advisers of Mr. Ritchle taught him the doctrine that negro-slavery was the most sacred boud of human subordinate to the slavery of the black, and to e rightly and properly imperilled in a revolu-ing the state of the slavery. In the late assaults on the forts, the army is mainly indebted to you for its success; for, not-withstanding their gallantry, they could not have passed from traverse to traverse without the aid of your guns, which swept the traverses while the army advanced from point to point; and the highest compilment I can pay your gunners is to say that, when I signalled to the General to know if he was not afraid of an aecident from your guns ranging so close to his men, he replied: "No; that your accuracy of fire was splendid." When the New Ironsides goos, I shall part with you and her with regret, though no further assistance can be required of her here.

These are the facts: the Tycoon is a packet in the Vick-burg and Meni-phis trade. On a recent up trip the boat landed for wood. The old negro, the owner of the wood, begged the Captain for some feed for his mule, the surrounding country being submerged by the flood. The Captain gave him a bule of buy, and a few bushels of corn and dats, the down trip, the bale of hay having been left on the loat by some stack men. After the boat had left the landing, the vigilant "Aid to the Revenue" heard of the transaction, and having an eye, no doubt, to a prospective quarter of a General Butord, at Helena, and the General sent a Licatenant up to report to General Wash-lurne, at Memphis, who of course treated the matter with the contempt it deserved.

SKETCH OF THE MARAUDER QUANTRELI AND HIS OPERATIONS. WARRENSBURG, JOHNSON Co., Mo., 2 March 7, 1865. Quantrell, the great Missouri and Kansa purderer and outlaw, is represented to be in Kentucky, perpetrating acts of wantonness and lickedness. Permit me to give your readers of dieamed that a day would soon come when this demon would return upon a mission of blood to devastate a splendid young city, and leave its blackened ruins and murdered citizens in one common fineral pile. "He who sows the wind, must reap the whirtwind" About the last of February, 1860, Quantrel

Walker, and abducting his negroes into Kausas, from some cause, not entirely known, he had, revious to this 'small raid,' become disaffected oward his own companions, and determined o have them murdered or killed by the citizens of Jackson county. He advised Walker secretly, that, on a certain night, his residence would be attacked by these despendees. Walker gathered together a number of the citizens of that county, and when his house was attacked at the precise hour and night designated by Quantrell to Walker an proposed resistance was male. walker, an neexpected resistance was male, and several of the ontlaws were killed; and, under the laws of the State and Government, Walker and his friends were vindicated and justified. But every man of honor reprobated the cowardly betrayal of his conditing comrades. The treason was indorsed, has the traitor was and will ever be corned. It was asserted, and never denied, as I have heard, but Quantrell coolly and deliberately mardered one of the men himself, after the man was servely wounded in the attack. With that laring spirit that always prompted the man wicked, cowardly, and an unheard-of warfare upon the non-combanants of Kansas and the coldiery of the Government.

We are very happy to learn that the gallant and rave Colonel Robert Stnart has been recommer ded to the honorable commission of Brigadier General, by his Excellency (lovernor Morton, of Indiana, and on no nobler shoulder could the emblematic "star" be placed.
Distinguised alike for his bravery and his courtesy, anid all the various trials to which this war has subjected men—the bivouac, the battle-lield, and the prison—he has ever been faremest among the sons of chivalry and daring.
His gallant conduct at Chickamanga, Hartaville, and still, later, at Nashville, where, with the bold heart of a hero, he turned the swarming hosts of the enemy back, and, with charge children who have given their life-blood to keep sucred the grand old flag under which she first took a name as a nation. Colonel Stuart is now commander of one of the finest divisions in the cervice, the 5th cavalry corps of the Military

Division of the Mississippl, which turned Hood's cit at Nashville.

As he is now at home on a brief furlough, we pe when he returns to his command it will be nder the "stars" of a newer and higher station, at one which he has nobly won by heroic May the sword he will wield in the future

In deference to the wishes of the military authorities we did not refer to the affair at Fredericksburg, which has been a topic of street talk for several days. As there is no longer any necay evening in a flotilla of transports, corroyed by two gnnboats. The arrival of the enemy wan not wholly emexpected, though the people were led to believe that they would not come were led to believe that they would not come with any hostile insent. It was understood that certain parties, with the comprance of both governments, had perfected an arrangement for the shipment of a large quantity of manufactured tobacco to the United States, for which a lot of bacon was to be sent in exchange. The tobacco was forwarded from this city to Fredericksburg and liamiiton's crossing last week. General Grant was informed of what was going on and determined to play a Fanker wick apon the speculators. He accordingly sent the force mentioned to Fredericksburg to destroy the tobacco. His orders were executed and the Yankees thereupon returned to their quarters. Shat free by mail or express at may risk on record to proc.

The question is frequently asked who is Gen.

SATURDAY, MARCH 18, 1865.

The official despatch from General Grant to the Assistant Secretary of War, contained in our telegraphic news of yesterday, and based upon a letter dated 12th inst., received by him from General Sherman, gives the most encoursging accounts of the Federal movements in Carolinas. General Sherman, it appears, had, dewn to the date of his letter, met with no formidable opposition; his army was in excellent condition. He had taken eighty cannon on his march and destroyed immense quantities of powder, &c., &c. General Sherman's statement of the rumored Wade Hampton victory is very gratifying. It appears that General Kilpatrick was surprised at his headquarters, when all but two of his staff were captured, but General Kiipatrick soon ranged his men for battle, and proceeded to thrash Hampton severely, recapturing everything the rebels had taken. We may, therefore, rest perfectly easy as to the progress of General Sherman. We hope that General Schofield has joined him by this time, and it is highly probably that he has done so. The junction of Sherman and Schofield will render our forces ntterly invincible. The rapid decline in gold. as reported by telegraph, affords conclusive evidence that the military situation is, in all re-

PECONCULATION.—The military situation at present is highly auspicions of a complete national trinmich. The remaining strength of the rebellion is chiefly confined to the army of General Lee, in the vicinity of Richmond, and that under General Johnston, now opposing the march of Sherman through the Carolinas. The last intelligence from the Union forces tells of victory over the enemy, and all indications now clearly point to the overthrow of every formidable military o ganization of the South before the close of the ensuing summer. The people of the South at pear atterly disheartened under the preside of rejeated disaster, and their I ers re e gaged in the most em'ttered dis-

The robelion is now kept from instant and utter collapse by the false cry that nothing is to be gained yet mision—that all the property of rebels is connected and all their lives forfetted under our laws, so that, while the courge model of the property of the present of the property of th ge rn of de peration may yet a hieve suc ge in of peration have yet a neve success, there is in the opposite course no h per whatever. THE PANT IN NEW YORK -The gold panie in New York seems to be furious. On Thurs by gold advanced in the morning to 1761, but dropped in the afternoon to 17214, and at night i, ran down to 165%, leaving off at 167%. The n' extended to sto ks, and broke prices d wn con idera ly. At the close there was a strong pressure to sell. The foreign news, no doubt, contributed largely to this new stamrede. The f llowing compares the prices of tocks and gold at the close for several days:

At the time we write gold is reported as having declined to about 102 or 163. There is no telling how long the panic is to last; it seems to have gathered a very strong headway. The fine news from Sherman and Sheridan produces this important result.

The rebel Senator Wigfail, of Texas, ha just made a very savage speech at Richmond He is greatly incensed at the passage of the negro enlistment law by the rebei Congress. Wigfall is an intense rebel, has always been hostile to the Federal Union, and labored assiduously during his entire service as a member of the United States Senate to bring about the present rebellion. He was never satisfied with anything being essentially a disturber of the peace. The Richmond Sentinel, in reporting Lis recent speech in that city, says:

His speech was violent, unpatriotic, and cenmrable in the highest degree; devoted to the advocacy of extreme fancies, and to the abuse of those who stand infinitely higher than he in the public confidence. He denounced the Virginia Legislature as "a one-horse concern" (where were our Senators that they had no word of rebuke), denounced the press, poured ont his bitterness npon the President, and demanded that he and the Vice-President should resign.

Wigfall, now that he sees inevitable failure written upon the brow of the rebellion, will endeavor to achieve additional notoriety as a polsterous leader in the general 'break up."

A telegram announces that on the 16th inst. but one newspaper was published in Richmond, Virginia—the Daily Dispatch. It appeared as a half sheet, apologizing that all the printers had gone into the army to perform special duty for a short while. The half sheet as stated was gotten up by "a few friends who are exempt from the service." The rebels at Richmond, we are led to believe, are contemplating some extraordinary movement-perhaps newspapers are not published indicates that

The policy of the Louisville Democrat 's premote a party organization in Kentucky ased exclusively upon the old prejudices in fafor of the institution of slavery. Those prejudices, we know, are rapidly passing away, under the influence exerted upon the institution by the resent civil war, but the editor of the Democrat hinks that they still sufficiently control the popular mind to give vigor and victory to a proslavery party in this Commonwealth. He plainly sees that slavery is lost—lost, just as all Union men said it would be, when, four years ago, the secessionists determined to risk the chances of war for its preservation. We all then saw with unerring prophecy that amid the viclssitudes inevitable to such a struggle slavery would surely go down. The editor of the Democrat fully recognized the fact, and, in 1862. when the predictions of Union men touching he said. If the rebels determine to suffer all the calam ties of the most protracted war, all they suffer and all they apprehend is their own fault. The louger this rebellion is carried on the worse for the matter seemed near the point of realization,

The above is a faithful statement of the case. Time after time has a warning similar to the above appeared in these coinmas, yet we have earnestly struggled to preserve in this State the ordinary safeguards of slavery. We have at all times, however, stood prepared to treat the subject as the unavoidable tendency of events should require. We now see that slavery in Kentucky, nor in any other State, cannot be preserved, and we are unwilling to make a useless struggle to maintain it. The war has fatally wounded elavery. This fact is recognized by every intelligent man in Kentucky. The rebels themselves now concede its abandonment. We believe now, as we said at the beginning, that the death-knell of the institution was sounded when the first rebel gun was fired at Fort Sumpter. Whatever difficult social problems emancipation may devolve upon statesmanship, we regard this one thing fixed from the acts and declarations of the rebcis themselves, that slavery is subverted and surrendered even by the people of the South. We look at this subject through no long nurtured prejudice; we regard it wholly in a practical light, without reference to any sentimental considerations. Does any candid man now expect to save slavery in this Commonwealth? None, we presome, who has reflected for a moment on the sul jet. With this view, recognizing the actuai condition around us, we have urged, and now urge more carnestly than ever, that the organic law of Kentucky shall be adapted as speedily as possible to the destiny lnevitably before We are not to be awayed from this clear path of duty by the puerlie charge that we have turned abolitionist, that we have joined the Republican party. We trust that no man capable of thinking and acting for the interests of Kentucky can be influenced by s ch repress h. Twelve m nths hence there will be no slavery in Kentucky, either real or nominal. By a recent act of the rebal Congress authorizing the culistment of three hundred the usand slaves in their armies, slavery has been virtually abelished in the rebei States. Has not this question, then, of slavery or no slavery. teen virtually settled North and South? There is to be no more slavery on this continent. Why, then, persist in a useless agitation to preserve it in Kentucky? ply to keep ailve old prejudices against emancipation. The question before our people is not whether they shall maintain slavery, for, practically, the institution has ceased in their midst; but the question is, shall they proceed to adapt the laws of the State to the actual condition of emancipation? We have a pro-slavery constitution and pro-slavery statutes, but no and the prior with about the inaugurated to- slavery. Wisdom dictates that we shall accommodate our Constitution and laws to our true condition, and the sooner this shall be done, the better for the State.

Is Health Worth Having? f It is, protect it. It is a jewel as easily lost as virtue and in some cases as difficult to recover. Nature, in the tonio used for this purpose. The medicinal tine tures, all of which are based on common alcohol, are dangerous. Quiniue, as everybody finds out who takes much of it, is a slow poison. One safe protective from all unhealthy atmospheric influences exists, and one only. This powerful preventive is HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS-a compound of the purest etimulaut ever manufactured, with the most effective tonics, alteratives, regulators, and depurakingdom. Convalescents, languid and feeble from recent sickness, will find the Bitters an incomparable res torative, not disagreeable to the taste, and eminently invigorating. No other stimulant produces the same effect as this Stomachic. Hear what Dr. Vun Zundt (one of the oldest and best physicians, and most celebrated oculist in the State) says in regard to the EUREKA.

St. Louis, Docember 17, 1964

St. Louis. Documber 17, 1984

Mr. Fisher has enhantited to my inspection the recipe for mixing his Hair Restorative, and, after a careful examination of the different luriedlershs which ever little the preparation. I have no heekation in pronouncing it (physically speaking) a most happy compound, and especially suited to the requirements of Natirea, and the designs of its inventor. Therefore, it cannot prove otherwise than one of the most valuably preparations of its kind now in use, for changing the color of the hair and restoring the scalp from a diseased to a healthy condition. I have examined and conversed with persons using the Eureka, and find that it does all that is proposed in cleaneling, keeping the hair from fulling out, and restoring it when gray.

SATURDAY, MARCH 15, 3 A. M. Good Work -A company of State troops was equipped on the 11th instant, at Lebanon, Kentucky, under the gallant Capt. G. W. Penn. On the 13th, a detachment was sent out on scout dnty, and, after a chase of some twenty miles, the men overtook a band of reputed horse-thieves, and, after slight resistance, captured three of their number. On the same day they captured three Confederate soldiers, and on the 15th they reported all the prisoners to the Provost Marshal of the Fourth Congressional District. These recreant wholesale dealers in horse and mule flesh have heretofcre cluded the vigilance of both the civil and military authorities. We call this good work. GENERAL ALLEN PROMOTED.—General Robert Allen, Chief Quartermaster of the Military Department of the Mississippi, has been appointed

Brigadier-General by brevet in the regular army, his commission to date from July 4th, 1861. This is a deserved promotion, as General Allen has proved himself to be a faithful officer by more than thirty years' service in the army. He is a man of marked ability, and his extensive experience renders him fully competent to grace any position within the gift of the Government. We congratulate the General and the army upon his I romotion. In the Q artermaster's Department he is now ranked by but one officer in the service, and that officer is General Meigs, Quartermaster-General. THE FINAL CAMPAIGN.

All the signs of the times combine to show that the present is the final campaign against he great rebellion. The enccess of onr armics and navies, the spirit of our soldiers, the opinons of our officers, the divisions, demoralizalon, and financial difficulties of the enemy, assure us that the trinmich of justice, liberty, and peace is at hand.

Every energy should now be directed to prepare our armies for the last desperate struggle; or the rebellion will die, as it has lived, in blood. Especially should those noble patriots who shall be called to offer their blood on the aitar of liberty, be prepared, so far as we can prepare them for this solemn service, by Chrisian instruction and earnest prayer. And when hey fall, every encoor that the love of Christ and of country can afford, should be at hand for their relief; nor should any soldier be alowed to die without having the hope of eternal ife through our Lord Jesus Christ presented to him, and without prayer to God for mercy in fils name. This duty the delegates of the Christian Commission perform.

In one hundred and forty chapel tents our oldiers now assemble dally to read the publications furnished by the Commission, or to write etters to loved ones at home, and every night n the week, and three times on Sabbath, most of them being crowded with carnest worship. pers, many of whom rise to ask prayer, and profess their design to lead Christian lives. Sixty additional tents are urgently demanded. The eading preachers of our land are offering their ervices, and, with one voice, attest the pres ence of the si irit of God in their assemblies The spring campaign has already opened Large amounts of money and goods are now needed to meet the battle-field and hospital wants that are already pressing, or may arise at any moment.

In this emergency the treasury is empty. The Christian Commission has no fonds in bank, no evestments of capi al. Its only reliance has ever been faith in God and in God's people. This is God's work. He will provide the means for it. Every Christian is His agent. To such we now appeal for immediate help.

CAPTURE AND BURNING OF A PASSENGER TRAIN

ON THE LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE RAILROAD-FULL PARTEULARS.—The report of the capture and destruction of the passenger train on the Louisville and Nashville Railroad by guerillas, on Tuesday night, excited great anxiety to learn the extent of the disaster. The Nashville Dispatch save:

The train was thrown from the track a short distance this side of Glasgow Junction, on its way to this city, at about seven o'clock in the evening. The track had been torn up for a distance of nearly one hundred yards, and wher the train was thrown off, it was greeted with a volley of musketry from a hand of about twenty guerillas, who appeared on the embankment above them, the affair occurring in the deep cut. They shouted like demons, and poured a second volley into the train, when the soldiers and train guards returned the fire, but to no purpose, as the guerilias were protected by the bank. The leader of the gang gavine command, in a stentorian voice, to computes A, B, and C, to advance, and fire at will, guards ceased firing, and they boarded the train like a pack of hungry wolves, stripping the pas-censers of all their money and valuables. The search was complete, and not even a finger-ring was spared. Several changes of clothing were effected, by which the rebels got decidedly the best of the bargain. Captain Talmadge was robbed of $5,000. After completing the robtery of the passengers, they set fire to the train, commencing with the rear car, and placing or monstibles under each of them, up to the lomotive. During the time the cars were burn ing, the band were occupied in selecting such articles as they desired from the express ear, which was not ignited until they were about to depart. After they were gone, the fire was put out, and the car saved. Sixteen men were ounded on the train, and one soldier is report-killed, and his body consumed in one of the tre. The baggage car, attached to the express, nntained all the private baggage of the passen-re, and the United States malls. This car as also saved, and none of its contents were olested. There were six cars destroyed. The llowing is a correct

Louisville, Jan. 28, 1858. J. MEMERER, Seety. Louisville., Ky, Feb. 18, 1965. Prof. J. Lawrence Smith; DEAR Siz: There seems to be some doubt in the minds of a few of our friends as to the actual opinion you entertain as to our lands in Harrison county, Ind., the last clause in year published report not being satisfactory. By giving us your opinion on the subject, you will oblige, yours, respectfully, LOWISVILLE, KY., Feb. 13, 1865. Mesers. Atwood and Menefee: GENTLEMEN: Your note is received asking my opinion regarding your 1,444 acres of land in Harrison county, Ind. In reply, I would simply state that the petroleum indications are of a most favorable character on your tract of land, and, in my opinion, fully justify the thorough development contemplated by the cumpamy. Yours, respectfully, Petroleum, Coal Gil, or Rock Oil.
